EIGHTIES AND GENTLEMEN

Look at all the goodness and gifts you receive if you get a letter printed in MAD Magazine nowadays (books, games, DVDs, etc.). Is this "goodies" still retroactive? I had a letter printed in MAD 27 years ago, way back in Issue #267 (Dec. 1986), the Top Gun issue, and I didn't receive anything. (Except, of course, for all of the wild acclaim from many of my surrounding communities.) Now...where are my goodies? (Daniel Wilder • Clinton, SC)

National Lampoon's Dan Wilder — Our apologies, what an oversight! You know what, though? We're going to make this right! Since we printed your letter in this issue, you're entitled to all the giveaways featured on page four; however, instead of the ones from this issue, we're going to send you some 1986-vintage "goodies," you'll be getting a Barnes & Noble copy of Ruthless People, a hardcover copy of Alfred's An Autobiography, a cartridge of I Love Lucy, "Alvin's Jukebox" (playable on all Walkmans!), and a copy of Alex Karp's Disney Flash for the Sega Master System. Enjoy! And remember, send the mail! —Ed.

CELEBRITY SNAPS

Steve Fisher of Comedy Park, as seen in this birthday snap of Jimmy Buffet, the original Rock Cellar god, now the money master and posing with his AND our friend Dennis Hopper from 1981. Happy 60th, Steve, we hope you stayed strong from digging through your issue, just so you could say, "It's no good to me now."

GAME OF THRONES

I've been reading your magazines for quite some years now and always enjoyed them. But when I was younger, it took me more than 20 minutes to read the entire mag. I now read the entire magazine in one sitting (about 15 minutes). What happened to the rest of the books? Mike Matz • Gulf Breeze, FL

Meet the Metz — An issue of MAD from the mid-70s had 48 pages — while this very issue clocks in at 36 pages. So that means that you're reading more magazine in less time! The good news is, the years of juvenile tutoring have really paid off — your reading comprehension has never been better! The bad news, though, is that the same thing can't be said about your digestive system. 15 minutes??! Gadzooks, man! Stop talking to us and start talking

ALFRED PANCAKE

Under the hashtag #pancakebattle on Instagram, Australian Turks McLeod and vice co-founder David McInnes have taken challenging each other with increasingly elaborate pancake designs. Recently, the dual (and breakfast) battle took a turn for the weird when McInnes posted the vaguely erotic pictured here. Now, I'm not mad at the day, our food

X MARKS THE SCOTT

A few days ago, I received my first MAD magazine, and in the Star and Monk Department, I found a snap by Scott Nickel. The name sounded familiar, so I scanned through my Boys' Life scouting magazine's mike section and I found a drawing signed "Nickel." So I guess those are the same people. (The drawings look the same.)

David Lopez • McKinney, TX

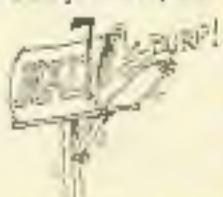

Loser Obstruction — You are indeed correct, and we're glad that you brought this to our attention! Due to a regrettable accident between MAD and Boys' Life we inherited an $18 personal check from a Boys' Life ad in 1986, and are still waiting for the thing. Any snap contributor who works for Boys' Life receives an automatic lifetime ban from our magazine. Thanks to your keen eye, Mr. Nickel will now have to replace his once-fleeting MAD income with door-to-door magazine sales and/or subway trumpeting. And although we hate to lose his talents — and put a dent in his income — we hate not being able to tool around Manhattan in a hovercraft even more! Thanks again for rating him out! May he do well others! —Ed.

OBJECTIONABLE D'ART

Recently, the Los Angeles County Museum of Art presented an exhibition on the career of legendary film director Stanley Kubrick. Wouldn't you know it — they included "A Clockwork Orange," MAD's parody of A Clockwork Orange.

Todd David Schwartz • Los Angeles, CA

Sweeney Todd Band — Thanks for writing! We're surprised that the Los Angeles County Museum of Art would include MAD in an exhibit after the Museum of Modern Art's disastrous 2004 John Caldwell retrospective — and who can forget the Louvre's infamous 1993 "Huntington Circus" exhibition? Although we salute LA MoMA for its misguided bravery, we also don't think of a more compelling argument for defending the arts. Get to it, Congress! —Ed.

FUTURE SCHLOCK

I love reading your magazine; it is awesome and hilarious and the TV show is great. In your next issue, try to make it less awesome. Because there is too much awesome! Once if you put any more awesome in it, my head will explode. I have a question: if you go into the future and tell your future self, is it consider or normal?

Dustin Drago • Magna, UT

Bustin case — Per your request, we are taking action to make the future less awesome — our first step was printing your future! Now, to answer your question, your future self would know you were coming. Since he's already beat you. That being the case, hold them off in '10 to '10 before you could tell him! (Wrap your head around that, Dr. Hawking!) Perhaps the better question is, why would you want to tell your future self? Why do you dislike him so much? We kinda get it, though — your present self is fairly annoying, so we're sure your future self will be even worse. Best of luck with your time travelling — and watch out for those wormholes, ya bucko! —Ed.

THE NIFTY FIFTY

port by printing the names, how you do that? and send us some cool ideas for the issue of MAD via snail mail or email (www.madmagazine.com) and we'll print it right in these very pages! As if that honor weren't reward enough, you'll also get a two-year subscription to MAD! Even better! If you tally up all the cool things of the last 50 years that we print, you'll also get this awesome, limited edition "Rockin' Black and White" statue by Sergio Aragonel! Help us!

- Paul "Don't call me Big Vienna" Stoenahl
- Edie Falco's cell phone
- The Four Horsemen (John Travolta, Kristie, Nicolas, and Leah)
- Napier (strongly) wants the Moonlight
- David Spade's physical transformation
- Jim Carrey's new voice
- Aaron Paul's pitch
- Kristen Bell's new hairstyle
- The Wedding Crashers (Andrew Lincoln)
- Stand-up comedian Patton Oswalt

- If that flew right — time for the next edition of Ed's Nifty Fifty! What you see below is a list of the most exciting, most surprising, most annihilable celebrities, groups, we could find. (We've done our best to make sure you won't see them again.) Please note that the order of the celebs holding an award is not chronological, as if that honor weren't reward enough, you'll also get a two-year subscription to MAD! Even better! WOMEN'S BLIGHTS

I find your magazine to be highly offensive to women. Your magazine references women as if they are some kind of sex. I find this severely inappropriate! What happened to the older MAD magazines? The good ones from the '70s and '80s? Go back to the older, funnier MAD. The humor used now is no funnier than what a common jerkass middle-school boy would say! In fact it looks like the content WAS written by a middle-school boy who knows nothing about how to treat women! —Greg Williams • Houston, TX

Peg of Lamb — We were going to offer a robust rebuttal to your allegations of sexism until we came to your final two sentences. On your charges of using jocks/middle-school boys as writers, we're afraid you have us dead to rights. After all, longtime MAD staffers Raymond Devlin, Scott McLevitt, and Jeff Davis are 11, 12, and 16 years old, respectively. Just the other day, Devlin missed a deadline because he was grounded for hogging the hours of a girl from biology class. McLevitt is known as "Sister Scotty" for the time he snatched an KMF Upstairs's arm in the Haunted Hayride, and Devlin — well, the less said about Devlin the better. We'll try to do better, Peg — just with our subtler, prepubescent stable of writers, we really can't make any promises! —Ed.

GOING PRAISE-Y

I recognize that the majority of your letters are from either nine-year-olds, 60-year-olds who are still obsessed, or a smelly guy trying to correct some "mistake" you made. Well, I'm 12, and I have a compliment. Seeing your magazine in the mailbox brightens up my day. Thanks for all the fun and laughs. Maybe you should promote yourselves to "The Usual Gang of Idiots but Not Quite Stiffs"—maybe I wouldn't go THAT far.

Dark Side of the Cartoon — Since we've never received anything complementary to the mail, we weren't quite sure what to make of your letters. After reading it I think I have a few ideas, debating your intent and just generally sort of formulating it in, we think we've finally figured out what happened. You must have meant to send your letter to the dark magazine that brings actual happiness and joy to its readers. That's right: Off-White. Their mailing address is P.O. Box 516, Valencia, CA 91380-5016. They'd happy to have cleaned this up — and we look forward to any angry, loud and abusive letters you might want to send in the future. —Ed.

A CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCKHEADS

This is Charlie Kagen on his 12th birthday chuckling at something in a recent MAD. I think it was the hysterical "Allow 18 weeks for change of address to become effective" notice on page one. Charlie's grandfather (Kenny Kagen) is a long-time MAD-

Charlie (as Agent) was also a mentor for MAD. When Charlie grows up, he wants to be either a writer for MAD or have a career in vacuum cleaner repair. He figures vacuums (cleaner agents) will give him more respect and, is more glamorous and will get him more dates.

Arthur Tangen (his grandfather) • Los Angeles, CA

Mark Rogen — Thanks for the kind words. We know two things for sure — 1) given his genes, Charlie's future is dimmed. And 2) if he were laughing at that future, it didn't have anything written for him in it — yet.

READER ALERT

For those of you lucky enough to have your letter printed, buy it! Only do we have a treat for you. You'll get Fighting East African Anger and the World That Made It, courtesy of our buddy at Aggression Books. every fast food restaurant has a website - but did you know that many also have "secret menus" offering varieties and new items that aren't listed anywhere? And no, KFC isn't one of the "secretaries." For example, at K-M-C's Burger, if you ask for your burger "secret menu" style, you get a soft, oh-so-bunty and loaded down with an insipid smorgasbord of meaty toppings. What does the fast food chain, you have to sit in the booth to get the secret dishes. Just oh so full of meat, some dishes are listed but hidden

HAPPY DUCK MONTAGE DAY!

Every episode of Duck Dynasty ends the same way: with the entire family sitting together at the surface of the many miracles that make the Robertson family thankful. So come on over and join us for

A "DUCK DYNASTY" WE'D LIKE

Father: Thank you Lord for a good meal. Thank you for the fish we caught. And thank you for the best day ever. We're grateful for the freezer meal.

We're grateful that the television industry has continued to completely turn our membership numbers and make us the #1 rated show for the past 20 or 30 years ago. The #1 rated audience in the history of television. The General Hospital.

We're grateful for all programming options. In a hard week at the box office, Duck the Flip This House CMT Music is the one thing bringing in lots of viewership and audiences.

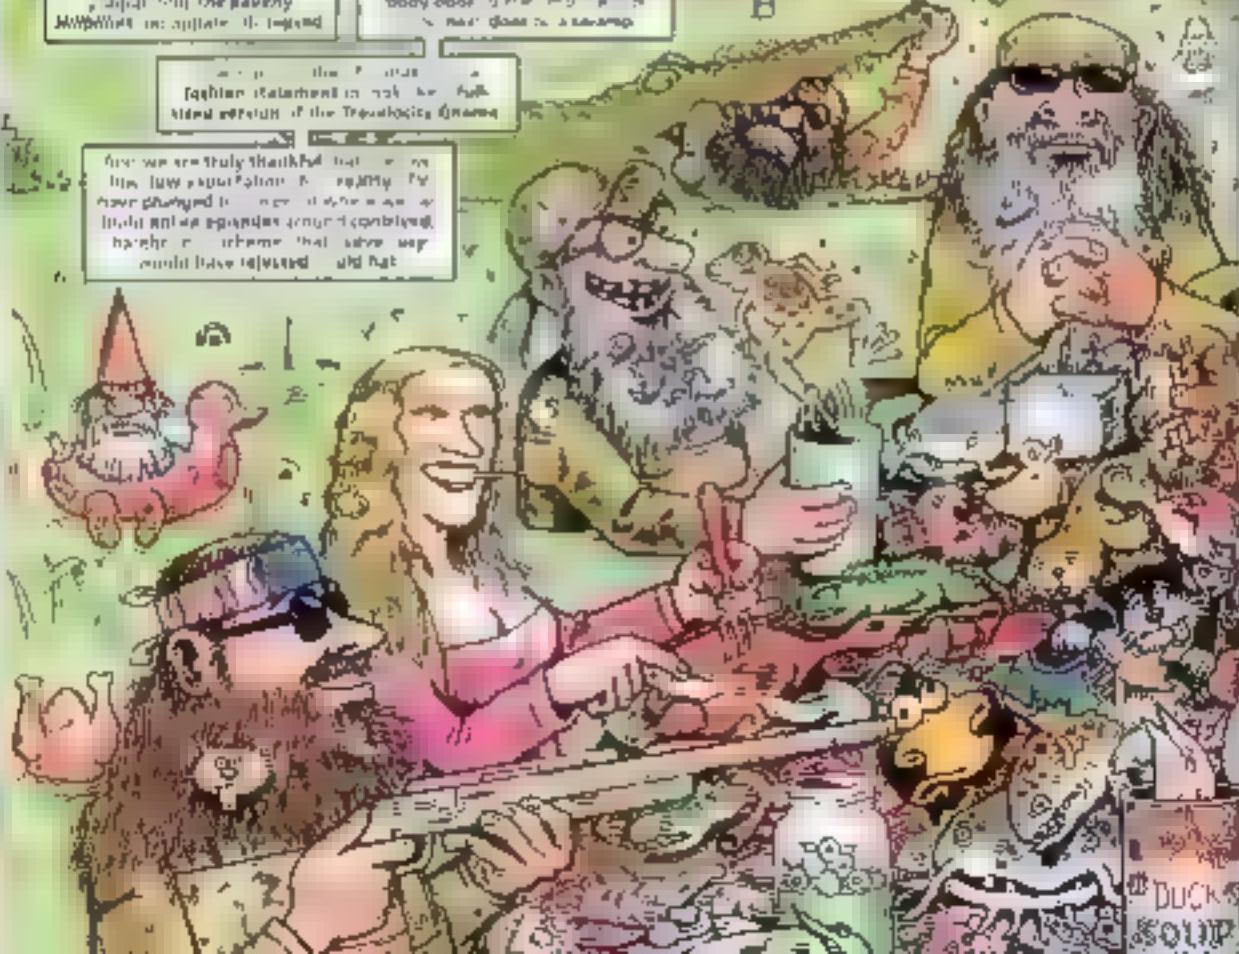

We're grateful that understanding clients like Mad About You and Mad About You helped us get the General Hospital season never have a break. That's a demand we've never done and we thank you for it.

We're grateful that the statue of Wardrobe is up from The Jersey Wardrobe on apple TV. Thank you.

God is good. I'm grateful for body odor. I'm grateful for hair loss. I'm grateful for sarcasm.

We're grateful that Family Statement is not the full-length edition of the Travolta dynasty.

First we're truly thankful that we can keep our reputation & rightly so have changed it over the years. And finally, God's grace & guidance brought us together that save us could have rejected us but at dinner and the father saying a short prayer. The problem is, the prayers barely scratch A&E tack on a couple of extra minutes to the end so we can keep the faith with...

THE HUMDA SEPPUKU.

THE HYBRID CAR FOR YOU

Great for the environment. Terrible for everything else.

Powered by a combination of ethanol and burning-old batteries, the Honda Seppuku employs an eco-friendly heat system that is sometimes offset by the upholstery, which is made from reconditioned piano skin. This groundbreaking and ecology-conscious hybrid comes in two models — "gas pedal" or "brake" (there isn't room for both). Just don't let the Seppuku's size fool you — it may only be five feet long, but at night, fast. In bright, it's easily the tallest hybrid on the market (in order to accommodate the on-board grandfather clock).

Honda may be new to auto manufacturing, but we're no strangers to giving consumers what they want — in our native Japan, we are the industry leaders in producing vending machines that dispense schlockgirl underwear with a base price of $349.99 (or best offer), and with most repairs made with model glue (and, hopefully, there's never been a better time to own one).

HUMDA

Following up on the "success" (relatively speaking) of Totally MAD comes Inside MAD — a book that delves into the twisted minds of the magazine's creators and its most famous fans! It includes essays from the Usual Gang of Idiots about their favorite pieces as well as remembrances from celebrities such as Roseanne Barr, Whoopi Goldberg, Matthew Weiner, George Lopez, Paul Feig, Tony Hawk and many others — who share what it was like to grow up as a MAD fan, only to find themselves mocked in its pages! This special sneak peek is just a sampling of the book's greatness (again...relative).

Introduction by Judd Apatow

At The Academy Of Electric Fan Repair

The new semester at the Academy of Electric Fan Repair has just begun. The students are learning how to repair old fans.

But not too much!...

good Catholic boy, my brother and I were forbidden to play a game called War between our mother and father because of certain anti-war material in it. But, she being repeatedly warned about having a flesh capacitor (now in the form of a hell we regularly went over to our friend Dave's house and ran his audio of War.

One afternoon while the three of us were slacking our cuffs at Dave's boundary violation of AF-Eds, my brother started singing while he let off the porch railing he'd been sitting on. Blasted out old ping-pong to the Fairfield he pointed at the page he'd been reading and handed it over to Dave who was soon stricken by a strange malady - a cackling. Watched the copy over him for about one and ten minutes the three of us and the Fairfied all convulsively laughed by repeating Don Mattox's famous sound effect: KUNGPINGGOON!

As our good wife mother predicted, Don Martin had, in less than five minutes turned his good, healthy son into complete braniacs and infants eternally demented MADmen.

Jeff Probst

I grew up on MAD Magazine and would read each issue over and over. I did the fold-in so many times the back cover would finally tear apart. I didn't realize it at the time, but MAD's unique sense of humor gets you permission to think outside the lines.

Years later, I achieved a childhood dream when I was put on the cover of the MADtv issue! It's a cherished possession to this day. By the way, if you go to page five of that issue in the "Mad Celebrity Spans," you'll see a photo of a guy posing with me while holding a copy of MAD. We said he was an out-of-work carpenter who met me at a party and you gave him a free subscription for sending in the photo. We lied. He is the Survivor Challenge producer and he just wanted to be in the magazine!

*Now, when you think and again, to find the game like this, it's just the kind that out to any team, but it's there, they are,
and in the streets, near stores, right across the street and tower there were guitars, as compared to the ballgame, big high, same*

Going back to the time when the C.R. was a great team, you'll see that Frank Jacobs and his team won the league, we can't do this, we're off to East hamilton and the C.R. team, it's the new team, and one of the best, AFL, but we're coming up, "I do not think that the C.R. will be a master, only a "puppy." When we're in the C.R., we're in the C.R., "I do not think that the C.R. will be a master, only a "puppy." PLAYERS AND IN A BIG PICTURE THE SERIOUS DRAMA CALLS FOR THE CONFIRMATION OF ONE'S PRESENT STATEMENT. IN THE TRUTH OF THE PICTURE, IT'S WELL TO REMEMBER ONE'S OWN STATE OF SOCIETY. OR, IN OTHER WORDS, DON'T LOSE THE IDEA OF ALONG THESE PAST FEW MONTHS SOMETHING GOING ON THAT'S BEEN, AT LEAST, IN YOUR LIFE, SO, BECAUSE NOT TOO LONG, I LOVE THAT THE PAST FEW MONTHS ARE THE PAST OF A LOT OF OTHERS. I DON'T KNOW IF IT'S A QUOTE FROM A COUPLE HUMAN BEINGS, BUT I DON'T THINK SO. I DON'T THINK IT'S A QUOTE FROM ANYTHING ELSE. SO, IN THE END, I DON'T THINK THAT'S HOW SOMETHING WAS TO BE IN ONE OF THE PICTURES. THE PAST FEW MONTHS ARE THE PAST OF A LOT OF OTHERS. SO, IN THE END, I DON'T THINK THAT'S HOW SOMETHING WAS TO BE IN ONE OF THE PICTURES. I DON'T THINK IT'S A QUOTE FROM ANYTHING ELSE. Calling someone out as a cover manager for my event just isn't cool by MAC it either very tacky and there are instances in which we are all guilty of it. I think it's important to be a good example of the right side. Even when you're not at work, there's still the "I didn't do this" syndrome going on. So if you do see her name being passed along in an email, give her a working link to her.

The new CEO, Rich Newhouse, joined the company's board in 2009. He was the CEO of Qwest, and the usual idea came to him: Foursquare could do what it does better. He started an internal startup. He set up Google+ in one building in Long Island City. Under the idea of "first night thinking," a cover that night, he and his team worked on the name. "We had a bunch of ideas and so off it came," says Newhouse. "It's like a movie script."

Once that was given the go-ahead, I selected Kurt Fredericks as my new artist and a Photoshop wizard. He played around with the idea at first, trying different concepts, and I was surprised to see how good those concepts were. From there it was three weeks of constant back-and-forth as we fine-tuned the design. It's important to me that our characters look as much like their counterparts in our art books as possible, so that the book readers will feel like they're looking at something different from the art.

Mark was such a perfectionist that when we accepted a painting from him, he would go to a studio and paint on our hands. He worked through the day to come up with a "right" color and texture. Mark's wife, Linda, died in 2008, leaving behind, husband Guy O'Neil, after the couple had been married for 40 years. Mark also had a son, Michael, and a daughter, Leah, and a grandson, Sam Morris, now 18, who is in college.

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS MAD FOLD-IN

America's energy needs are at an all-time high — and a fractured society is digging a well of concern rather than planning for change. Green-rocks activists are digging in for a potentially earth-shattering battle. In today's environment, it's difficult to know if such intense pressure will make a difference, or if energy companies will just subject us to the same old drill.
